THE MARKET COLORLESS

There Was More Appearance of Speculative Interest.

SOME ACTIVITY AT CLOSE

During Last Hour There Was Indication of Speculative Contest in Which Neither Side Showed Signs of Any Strength.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 7.—There was more appearance of speculative interest in 16 days stock market. The resistance of the market in the face of duliness seemed to encourage an attempt to put up prices. There was no news to account for the point rise in St. Paul and Missouri Pacific on professional operations, Despite this not very striking demonstration, the market was but a ecloriess affair up to the last hour, and the volume of dealings showed no appreciable improvement over that of yesterday. There was some indication of a specilative contest in the last hour in which neither side gave signs of any great strength. The market had begun to say off from inanimation, but had stiffened again when a heavy stream of United States stocks began to pour upon the market. The common wad scarried a point under last night, the preferred 3-4, and the second mortgage bonds suffered to a less extent. Nothing was known to the public at the time of the showing for the quarter as to earnings, but the assembling of the directors of the torporation to consider the report caused a strong conviction in the board-room that the tape was giving an accurate forecast of its character. The fear that an unfavorable showing of earnings was forthcoming discouraged the speculative sentiment and prices gave way throughout. The closing was in consequence dull and easy. Satisfaction is felt in all departments of the financial world at the letting out of the inflation in the cotton market, which went a step further to-day. But it is not expected that the curtailed demand for cotton will revive in any degree until conditions in the market become more placid. A hreak of 5 points in Standard Repe and Twine I's was due to fears that the interest would not be paid. This, with a break of 6 7.5 in United States bonds were all unchanged in the last scale.

The bond market was irregular. A feature is the sugging tendency of some of the light issues on the speculation.

Wall Street Gossip.

Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NEW YORK, July 7.—The opening was very tame, and outside of the relatively active operations in Amalgamated Copper, gave very little lead.

If anything, prices were inclined to sag on the disturbed cotton situation and the gold exports.

The lower prices from London had some early influence, but not much.

The Grangers and Facilies showed a hard undertone and were helped by the favorable character of the control of the control
